

General Terms and Conditions of Purchase

Dated: 01/10/2020

1. General information

1.1 The legal relations between the supplier or service provider (hereinafter referred to as the „contractual partner“) and the ordering company within the Pöppelmann Group of Companies (hereinafter referred to as „Pöppelmann“) shall be governed exclusively by these General Terms and Conditions of Purchase.

1.2 Any general terms and conditions of the contractual partner which conflict with or deviate from these General Terms and Conditions of Purchase or which supplement them shall not be recognised unless Pöppelmann has expressly agreed to them in writing in individual cases. The general terms and conditions of the contractual partner shall be excluded even if their application has not been expressly contradicted.

1.3 Diese Einkaufsbedingungen gelten nur gegenüber Unternehmern im Sinne von § 310 Abs.1 BGB.

1.3 These Terms and Conditions of Purchase shall only apply to companies within the meaning of § 310 (1) of the German Civil Code (BGB).

2. Offer/ conclusion of contract

2.1 Any declarations relating to the conclusion, amendment or supplementation of contracts must be made in writing. Orders, declarations of acceptance or delivery call-offs from Pöppelmann as well as any amendment or supplementation thereto may also be placed electronically, by fax or by means of remote data transmission (e.g. EDI, e-mail).

2.2 Pöppelmann is entitled to cancel an order if the contractual partner has not accepted the order within a period of two weeks from receipt.

2.3 Offers and quotations made by the contractual partner shall be free of charge.

2.4 Within the framework of agreed delivery schedules / delivery call-offs, the terms used there apply as follows:

Production or delivery release: These delivery dates and quantities shall be deemed fixed and binding.

Material release: The dates and quantities entitle to the respective procurement of materials with regard to the next production or delivery release.

Forecast: These dates and quantities are only intended as a non-binding forecast and are for information purposes only.

3. Prices / payment terms / invoices

3.1 The prices stated in Pöppelmann's order are binding. Unless otherwise agreed in writing, the prices are fixed net prices excluding VAT, including packaging, insurance and DAP delivery (Incoterms 2010).

3.2 Invoices must be issued separately for each order, in accordance with the statutory provisions, stating the complete order number and in a proper verifiable manner. The invoice shall be accompanied by verifiable proof of performance.

3.3 Incorrectly issued invoices are deemed not to have been issued and will not be processed unless the contractual partner can demonstrate not to be responsible for the non-compliance.

3.4 The number of pieces, quantities, weights and dimensions determined by Pöppelmann upon goods receipt shall be decisive for the calculation, subject to other proof.

3.5. Unless otherwise agreed in writing, payment shall be made at Pöppelmann's discretion – subject to invoice verification – with a 3 % discount within 14 working days or net after 30 days. The payment period shall run from receipt of the invoice, but at the earliest from receipt of the delivery.

3.6 Unconditional payment of the invoice amount by the client does not imply recognition of the contractor's performance as being in accordance with the contract.

4. Delivery / default

4.1 Unless otherwise agreed in writing or specified in the order, delivery shall be made DAP (Incoterms 2010) with the factory address of the respective ordering company of Pöppelmann as the delivery location.

4.2 Agreed periods and / or dates shall be understood as the goods' time of arrival at the agreed place of delivery during normal business hours.

4.3 If a delivery including assembly and / or commissioning has been agreed upon, the handover after proper execution of the assembly and / or commissioning shall be decisive for compliance with an agreed date. If acceptance is stipulated by law or has been agreed by contract, the time of acceptance shall be decisive.

4.4 Advance or partial deliveries are only permissible subject to Pöppelmann's written consent.

4.5 If the contractual partner is in default of delivery, Pöppelmann shall be entitled to the statutory claims.

4.6 If the contractual partner becomes aware of circumstances which could prevent timely or fault-free delivery, it must be notified to Pöppelmann without delay in writing. This applies in particular to cases of force majeure, operational disruptions, shortage of raw materials or lack of self-supply.

5. Dispatch / packaging / customs duties

5.1 The contractual partner shall clearly and properly mark, package and dispatch the deliveries, especially in the case of hazardous goods, with all information important for the content, storage and transport of the goods and pursuant to national and international regulations.

5.2 The goods shall be packed in a particularly environmentally friendly manner, using packaging material suitable for the goods and the transport route, which is approved at the place of delivery, and in such a way as to avoid transport damage.

5.3 All deliveries shall be accompanied by proper shipping documents and in particular by a delivery note stating the order data as well as material and batch descriptions of the delivered goods with exact quantity specifications, technical data sheets and safety data sheets. In the case of partial deliveries, the documents must contain the remaining quantity still to be delivered.

5.4 The contractual partner is obliged to take back and properly dispose of packaging material free of charge. Upon request, proof of disposal in compliance with the law shall be presented.

5.5 The contractual partner must comply with all requirements of the applicable national and international customs and foreign trade law („Foreign Trade Law“). The contractual partner shall notify Pöppelmann without delay after receiving the order and, in the event of changes, communicate all information and data immediately and in written form, which Pöppelmann requires to comply with foreign trade law concerning export, import, re-export and shipment, in particular:

(i) the current customs tariff number (six digits for third country contract partners and at least eight digits for EU resident contract partners according to the current list of goods for foreign trade statistics and the HS (Harmonised System) code);

(ii) the country of origin (non-preferential origin) and, if requested by the buyer, supplier declarations of preferential origin (in the case of European contract partners) or certificates of proof of preferential origin (in the case of third country contract partners); at the request of Pöppelmann (or recipient), a European contractual partner is also obliged to provide an information sheet INF 4 according to Art. 64 et seq. of the Implementing Regulation (EU) 2015/2447 to confirm the authenticity or correctness of a supplier's declaration;

(iii) all applicable items on the list of goods, specifically the export list numbers, control items of Annex I Regulation (EC) No. 428/2009 as amended as well as the Export Control Classification Number according to the U.S. Commerce Control List (ECCN), if relevant.

5.6 According to the SAFE Framework of Standards of the WCO, the contractual partner shall be involved by Pöppelmann to ensure sufficient security in the supply chain. The contractual partner undertakes to meet the security and reliability requirements prescribed by the customs authorities for certification as an „Authorised Economic Operator“ (or equivalent). If the contractual partner has not been granted this or a comparable status and has not yet applied for the said status, he undertakes to submit a separate security declaration. Furthermore, the contractual partner agrees to inform Pöppelmann without delay if the security or reliability requirements of the customs authorities can no longer be met or if strict compliance with these requirements can no longer be guaranteed.

5.7 If the contractual partner is responsible for a violation of his obligations as defined in clauses 5.1 to 5.6, he shall bear all expenses and damages incurred by Pöppelmann as a consequence thereof.

6. Warranty

6.1 Immediately after delivery, Pöppelmann shall only inspect the goods for identity and quantity as well as for obvious defects (e.g. externally visible transport damage) to the extent that this is feasible in the ordinary course of business and shall give notice without delay of any defects which become apparent. Any other defects shall be notified immediately after their discovery.

6.2 Pöppelmann shall be entitled to the statutory claims for defects, modified by the following provisions 6.3 to 6.9.

6.3 At its own discretion, Pöppelmann is entitled to demand that the contractual partner remedy the defect or deliver a new item. The right to compensation for damages, especially the right to compensation instead of performance, is expressly reserved.

6.4 The place of subsequent performance is the place where the defective goods are located.

6.5 Pöppelmann is entitled to remedy defects itself at the expense of the contractual partner if the contractual partner is in default.

6.6 The return of defective goods shall be at the expense and risk of the contractual partner.

6.7 If acceptance is contractually agreed or provided for by law, Pöppelmann shall be entitled to refuse the declaration of acceptance in the event of substantial defects or incomplete performance, and to withhold any payment which may be linked to the acceptance.

6.8 The limitation period for statutory claims for defects is 36 months from the transfer of risk, unless longer limitation periods apply by law, in particular the provisions of §§ 445b, 478 (2) of the German Civil Code (BGB).

6.9 The other mandatory provisions of the delivery recourse shall also remain unaffected.

7. Quality

7.1 The contractual partner must comply with the agreed quality, in particular the technical specifications as well as the applicable product-relevant statutory provisions, state of the art and agreed production and testing processes. Changes and deviations to/of the product or the production processes, in particular in design, material composition, production location, always require prior written consent.

7.2 The contractual partner shall carry out effective quality assurance and provide proof of this on request. Unless otherwise agreed in writing, the contractual partner shall use and maintain a certified quality management system (QMS) at least according to ISO 9001 during the business relationship with Pöppelmann. Pöppelmann must be informed without delay in writing of the expiry, restriction or withdrawal of the certificate.

7.3 Pöppelmann shall be entitled to inspect the quality assurance system itself or to have it inspected by commissioned third parties after prior notification of the contractual partner, taking due account of confidential information held by the contractual partner.

7.4 In the event of a separately concluded and valid Quality Assurance Agreement (QAA) between the contractual partner and Pöppelmann, the provisions of the QAA shall apply additionally and shall take precedence in the event of a conflict with the provisions of these Terms and Conditions of Purchase.

7.5 Machines, tools, equipment or systems which are the subject-matter of a delivery must comply with the requirements of the statutory provisions and safety regulations applicable at the time of performance of the contract. Insofar as the Machinery Directive is applicable, the contractual partner shall hand over a risk analysis of the respective manufacturer relating to the delivery item at the latest upon delivery.

7.6 The contractual partner must comply with all statutory provisions as amended and applicable at the time of delivery of the goods – especially product-related safety and legal provisions relating to chemicals and the environment.

7.7 The contractual partner is obliged to comply with the obligations incumbent upon him in accordance with EC Regulation No. 1907/2006 (REACH Regulation in short) and to supply RoHS-compliant products.

7.8 The contractual partner shall inform Pöppelmann without delay in writing or by e-mail of all chemical substances according to Directive 2011/65/EU including the addendum according to (EU) 2015/863 (RoHS), which are contained in products delivered or to be delivered and/or packaging material used for this purpose, both unsolicited and upon request by Pöppelmann. The contractual partner shall also continue to provide information on the substances listed in Annexes XIV and XVII of the REACH Regulation as amended, which are contained in products delivered or yet to be delivered. This information obligation applies in particular if a component of a product contains a substance in a concentration of more than 0.1 mass per cent (w/w) that satisfies the criteria of Articles 57 and 59 of the REACH Regulation (substances of very high concern). It must be ensured that the goods are marketable under the REACH Regulation. Legal obligations of the contractual partner remain unaffected.

7.9 The contractual partner shall make sure that the quality assurance obligations assumed by him towards Pöppelmann are passed on to suppliers and subcontractors within the supply chain commissioned by the contractual partner.

8. Exemption/ liability/ insurance

8.1 The contractual partner shall indemnify Pöppelmann on first demand against claims for damages by third parties in the event of damage for which he is responsible, provided that the cause lies within the control and organisation of the contractual partner and that he himself is liable in the external relationship. In cases of fault-based liability, however, this only applies if the contractual partner is at fault.

8.2 Within the scope of the contractual partner's own liability for cases of damage within the meaning of clause 8.1, the contractual partner shall also reimburse Pöppelmann for any damage and expenses arising from or in connection with a lawfully implemented damage mitigation measure, especially in the event of a recall campaign. As far as possible and reasonable, Pöppelmann shall inform the contractual partner in good time about the content and scope of the measures to be carried out and shall give the contractual partner the opportunity to examine and comment on the matter.

8.3 The contractual partner shall be responsible for the fault of his suppliers, subcontractors and sub-suppliers as if it were his own fault.

8.4 Otherwise, the statutory liability provisions shall apply unless otherwise agreed in writing. The provisions of clauses 8.1 and 8.2 shall not affect other legal claims or the principles of § 254 of the German Civil Code (BGB).

8.5 At least for the duration of the warranty periods applicable to his contractual obligations, the contractual partner must maintain a business liability and product liability insurance policy with an appropriate sum insured per claim at his own expense.

8.6 The insurance must also cover events of damage occurring abroad and must include at least an „extended product liability“, which is based on the special conditions and risk descriptions for the product liability insurance of industrial and commercial companies (product liability model) as of January 2015 of the German Insurance Association (Gesamtverband der Deutschen Versicherungswirtschaft e.V. or GDV in short). These Terms and Conditions can be viewed on the Internet at gdv.de and will be made available by Pöppelmann to the contractual partner free of charge upon request.

8.7 The contractual partner shall also adequately insure his legal liability on the basis of legally based obligations for a product recall or a product warning.

8.8 Proof of the scope and sum insured shall be provided to Pöppelmann without delay upon request.

8.9 Pöppelmann's statutory claims for damages shall remain unaffected by the scope and amount of insurance cover.

9. Rights of use / industrial property rights

9.1 Pöppelmann reserves all property rights, copyrights and other rights to illustrations, drawings, calculations, samples, models, other documents as well as know-how, industrial property rights, ideas, in whichever form, which Pöppelmann makes available to the contractual partner.

9.2 The contractual partner grants Pöppelmann a non-exclusive, irrevocable right of use and exploitation, which is unlimited in space, content and time, freely transferable and sub-licensable in respect of work results produced by the contractual partner or which have not been individually produced on its behalf – whether verbally, in writing, electronically or in any other form – in particular illustrations, drawings, calculations, documents and other records as well as samples, objects, calculations relating to the contract, in all types of media for the contractually agreed purposes or those stipulated in the contract.

9.3 If and to the extent that individual development services, individual work results are provided by the contractual partner on behalf of Pöppelmann and / or illustrations, drawings, product descriptions, data sheets or other documents are created, the contractual partner shall transfer the exclusive rights of use and exploitation of such documents to Pöppelmann at the time they are created, in addition to the rights granted under clause 9.2.

9.4 Unless otherwise agreed in writing, Pöppelmann is exclusively entitled to industrial property rights if they are based exclusively on Pöppelmann's own know-how or if Pöppelmann bears the entire development costs.

9.5 The statutory rights of Pöppelmann remain unaffected by the provisions of clauses 9.2 and 9.4.

9.6 If third parties assert claims for damages against Pöppelmann due to violation of industrial property rights or copyrights when using the goods delivered or services rendered in accordance with the contract, the contractual partner shall indemnify Pöppelmann upon first written request, without prejudice to any other legal claims, from all claims of third parties arising from the violation of industrial property rights if the claims are based on a fault of the contractual partner. § 254 of the German Civil Code (BGB) applies accordingly. The contractual partner shall support Pöppelmann in its legal defence without delay and appropriately at his own expense. Pöppelmann is not entitled to make any agreements with third parties regarding the violation of property rights or copyrights without the consent of the contractual partner, in particular to make a settlement without the consent of the contractual partner.

9.7 The contractual partner's obligation to indemnify refers to all expenses necessarily incurred by Pöppelmann as a result of or in connection with claims made by a third party, unless the contractual partner can prove that he is not responsible for the breach of duty underlying the violation of property rights.

9.8 The use of names and protected trademarks of Pöppelmann and the existence of the business relationship for reference, advertising and/or other marketing purposes of any kind is only permitted with the express consent of Pöppelmann.

10. Retention of title / provided goods

10.1 Unless otherwise agreed, title shall pass to Pöppelmann upon delivery.

10.2 Pöppelmann does not recognise a retention of title by the contractual partner in the form of an extended and/or prolonged retention of title.

10.3 Notwithstanding the provisions of clause 10.1, the title to contractual items which still have to be manufactured by the contractual partner on behalf of Pöppelmann shall pass to Pöppelmann upon completion of the said items. This applies in particular to the tools, moulds and / or other means of production („tools“) commissioned by Pöppelmann which the contractual partner requires for the production of the goods to be delivered to Pöppelmann. The transfer is replaced by the fact that the contractual partner shall store the tools for Pöppelmann free of charge with the due diligence of a prudent businessman as the agent of possession.

10.4 If the contractual partner orders tools from a third party within the scope of his procurement, the contractual partner's expectant right of title shall be passed on to Pöppelmann. The contractual partner is obliged to make all necessary agreements with the third party in good time to make sure that property is transferred to Pöppelmann at a later date. Pöppelmann accepts this transfer.

10.5 Pöppelmann reserves title to tools, materials, products, transport containers, other goods or objects which Pöppelmann provides, lends or otherwise makes available to the contractual partner for use („provided goods“).

10.6 The contractual partner is obliged to mark Pöppelmann's property as such and to insure it sufficiently against all common risks, in particular against accidental loss, theft, fire, water and storm at his own expense. The property is to be stored and kept separately from identical or similar objects owned by third parties or the contractual partner free of charge with the due diligence of a prudent businessman and to be protected from third-party intervention. The contractual partner hereby transfers all claims for compensation under this insurance to Pöppelmann; Pöppelmann accepts this transfer. Intervention by third parties, loss, destruction or damage must be reported to Pöppelmann without delay in writing.

10.7 Upon Pöppelmann's request, any provided goods shall be returned without delay. Rights of retention are excluded, except in the case of counterclaims of the contractual partner that have been legally established or are undisputed.

10.8 Provided goods, in particular tools, shall be used exclusively to fulfil the contractual obligations of the contractual partner towards Pöppelmann. Without consent, they may not be sold, transferred by way of security, pledged, passed on to third parties or used for the contractual partner's own purposes outside the scope associated with the transfer nor may they be used for third parties.

10.9 In the case of a provision with handover, the contractual partner shall assume the corresponding duty of care toward third parties associated with the provided good and responsibility with regard to compliance with the relevant and applicable accident prevention regulations, especially the regulations of the competent professional association.

10.10 Agreed provided goods are to be called up from Pöppelmann in good time and to such an extent that the proper performance of services by the contractual partner is guaranteed.

10.11 After the delivery of provided goods, the contractual partner shall carry out an incoming goods inspection in accordance with § 377 of the German Commercial Code (HGB). The contractual partner must inform Pöppelmann without delay in writing of any defects detected.

10.12 Processing or reworking of provided goods by the contractual partner shall be carried out for Pöppelmann. If the processing is carried out with other objects not belonging to Pöppelmann, Pöppelmann shall acquire joint ownership of the new object in the ratio of the value of the object belonging to Pöppelmann (purchase price plus VAT) to the other processed objects at the time of processing.

10.13 Insofar as provided goods are inseparably mixed with other objects not belonging to Pöppelmann, Pöppelmann shall acquire joint ownership of the new item in the ratio of the value of the conditional item (purchase price plus VAT) to the other mixed items at the time of mixing. If the mixing is such that the contractual partner's item is to be regarded as the main item, it shall be deemed agreed that the contractual partner shall transfer joint ownership to Pöppelmann in proportion to the value of the item provided.

10.14 Insofar as the security interests to which Pöppelmann is entitled in accordance with clauses 10.12 and 10.13 exceed the purchase price of all goods, which are yet to be paid for, by more than 10 %, Pöppelmann will be obliged, at the request of the contractual partner, to release security interests of its own choice.

11. Tool use

11.1 The contractual partner is obliged to take proper care of the tools provided to him with the due diligence of a prudent businessman, to keep them in a condition suitable for the fulfilment of his contractual obligations and to carry out all servicing and repair work, in particular maintenance and inspection work as well as necessary repairs at his own expense in a proper, professional and timely manner.

11.2 If a tool provided by way of lending and manufactured or procured by the contractual partner is unusable due to wear before an output quantity and / or minimum usage time agreed with the contractual partner has been reached, it must be replaced by the contractual partner at his own expense, unless otherwise agreed in writing. Replacement tools become the property of Pöppelmann.

11.3 Technical changes to tools provided require Pöppelmann's written consent.

11.4 The relocation of any tool requires the prior written consent of Pöppelmann. Pöppelmann shall be entitled at any time to inspect the condition of a tool at the respective tool location.

11.5 If the contractual partner does not properly fulfil his contractual obligations in spite of having been notified of a defect within a set period of time, Pöppelmann shall be entitled to terminate the tool lending / provision with immediate effect and to demand the return of his property, irrespective of any statutory claims for return. The same shall apply if the contractual partner cannot make sure that the deliveries required by Pöppelmann are of the agreed quality, quantity and / or take place by the agreed date, or if his financial situation deteriorates considerably, or if judicial composition or bankruptcy proceedings are opened against the contractual partner.

12. Confidentiality

12.1 Subject to statutory, judicial or official disclosure obligations, the contractual partner is obliged to maintain confidentiality – in any form, whether written, verbal, electronic or in any other way – with regard to all information received from Pöppelmann or from a company affiliated with Pöppelmann within the meaning of §§ 15 et seq. of the German Stock Corporation Act (AktG) in connection with the contractual purpose, which is marked as confidential or the confidentiality of which arises from the circumstances, especially the content of the information itself. This includes in particular all documents, illustrations, drawings, calculations, design data, samples and other documents, data carriers and other media created by Pöppelmann as well as other information, especially know-how and business or trade secrets of Pöppelmann. Such information shall not be disclosed to third parties and/or used for third parties without Pöppelmann's written consent and shall be protected against unauthorised access by third parties by appropriate confidentiality measures. This also includes technical security measures adapted to the current state of the art (Art. 32 of the GDPR) as well as an obligation on the part of employees to maintain confidentiality and to observe data protection by taking appropriate measures before information becomes known.

12.2 The Confidential Information shall only be disclosed to employees who necessarily depend on the knowledge of such information for the purpose of fulfilling the contract and who are obliged to maintain confidentiality.

12.3 The contracting partner shall refrain from exploiting or imitating the information outside the contractually agreed purpose in any way (in particular by means of so-called „reverse engineering“) or having it exploited or imitated by third parties, and especially from using the confidential information to apply for industrial property rights – in particular trademarks, designs, patents or utility models.

12.4 The confidentiality obligations shall also apply after the contract has been fulfilled. However, they shall not apply or shall expire if and insofar as the information made available within the meaning of Section 12.1

– was known to the public or was generally accessible to the public prior to disclosure or transfer or becomes so at a later date without breach of any confidentiality obligation; or

– was demonstrably already known to the recipient prior to disclosure by the holder and without breach of a confidentiality obligation; or

– was obtained by the recipient himself without use or reference to confidential information; or

– is transferred or made accessible to the recipient by an authorised third party without breaching a confidentiality obligation.

12.5 Statutory provisions are neither restricted nor excluded by the aforementioned provisions pursuant to clause 12.

13. Compliance

13.1 The contractual partner shall observe all relevant and applicable laws and legal regulations, in particular product-related chemical, safety and environmental regulations.

The contractual partner undertakes not to offer, grant, demand or accept any advantages in business dealings or in dealings with public officials or to breach applicable anti-corruption regulations in any other way. Furthermore, it is also prohibited to enter into or promote agreements or concerted practices with other businesses which aim to prevent, restrict or distort competition in accordance with the applicable antitrust rules.

13.2 The contractual partner shall comply with the applicable laws governing the general minimum wage (MiLoG).

13.3 The contractual partner shall comply with the respective legal regulations on dealing with employees, environmental protection and occupational safety and shall endeavour to reduce any adverse effects on people and the environment in his activities. To this end, the contractual partner shall set up and further develop a management system according to ISO 14001 within the scope of his possibilities. The contractual partner will further observe the principles of the UN Global Compact Initiative, which essentially concern the protection of international human rights, the abolition of forced and child labour, the elimination of discrimination in recruitment and employment, and responsibility for the environment (www.unglobalcompact.org).

13.4 The contractual partner shall oblige his suppliers and subcontractors to the same extent to comply with clauses 13.1 to 13.3 and shall provide proof of this without delay upon request by Pöppelmann.

13.5 The contractual partner must clarify any suspicion of a breach of obligations under clauses 13.1 to 13.4 without delay and properly inform Pöppelmann in writing of the measures taken to clarify the matter. If a suspicion proves to be well-founded, the contractual partner must inform Pöppelmann within a reasonable period of time about the internal measures he is taking to stop and prevent future infringements.

13.6 Notwithstanding the other rights of Pöppelmann, a not merely insignificant breach of one or more of the obligations mentioned in clauses 13.1 to 13.5 for which the contractual partner is responsible entitles Pöppelmann to terminate the contract without notice for good cause or to withdraw from the contract and to exercise its rights, claim for damages and to terminate the business relationship and all contractual negotiations.

14. Applicable law / place of jurisdiction

14.1 The exclusive place of jurisdiction is the place of business of Pöppelmann. However, Pöppelmann is also entitled to sue the contractual partner at his place of business.

14.2 German law shall apply, excluding the UN Convention on Contracts for the International Sale of Goods (CISG).

14.3 The contractual language is German. The German version of these Terms and Conditions of Business shall prevail. The English version is for information purposes only.

15. Data protection

15.1 The contractual partner is obliged to comply with the statutory provisions governing data protection which apply to him. In particular, the contractual partner may only process personal data, which he receives from Pöppelmann within the scope of the order as well as during and prior to the execution of the contract or which he becomes aware of in any other way, for the execution of the contract and may not – except where permitted by law – otherwise process it, use it for his own purposes, disclose it to third parties or use it to create profiles.

15.2 Details on the processing of personal data and data protection by Pöppelmann can be found in Pöppelmann's privacy policy (Art. 12–14 GDPR), which can be viewed at <https://www.poeppelmann.com/en/company> and will be sent to the contractual partner free of charge on request.
